COURSING IN IRELAND.

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT.

IRISH CLUB TO ASSUME CONTROL.

At a meeting of the National Coursing Club, held at Liverpool yesterday, an important decision was arrived at, by which the government of the sport in Ireland is to be entirely handed over to a separate Irish organisation to be created as the Irish Coursing Club. This is the outcome of the suggestion recently made by a conference of Irish coursing men, by whom it was pointed out that the sport in the country has now grown to such dimensions that the establishment of an Irish controlling body would be in the best interests of the sport.

A deputation from Ireland yesterday waited upon the National Coursing Club for the purpose of urging this view. They met with a pleasant surprise, for, without being called upon to submit their case, they were informed by Mr. W. Wing, Chairman of the Standing Committee, that their requests were to be entirely conceded, and, providing a properly constituted Irish Coursing Club is formed, on the same lines as the N.C.C., the reins of government will be handed over to that body. The N.C.C. rules would also be amended in order to meet the new situation.

The Earl of Sefton, President of the N.C.C.,

would also be amended in order to meet the new situation.

The Earl of Sefton, President of the N.C.C., stated that they (the N.C.C.) cordially welcomed the idea of an Irish Coursing Club, which would be all the better for the sport and for the friendly relations between the two countries. Coursing meetings in Ireland had quadrupled in recent years, and there was every prospect of important meetings being held there in the future.

Mr. O'Sullivan (Limerick) and Mr. Lundon, M.P., cordially thanked the N.C.C. for the concession, and said they would make the sport in freland creditable to the parent body. Mr.
Lundon alluded to the great growth of the sport in Ireland, and remarked that since the system of land purchase had been in operation every farmer was preserving his land and every village forming its coursing club. There would probably be nearly three hundred meetings in the coming season.

probably be nearly three hundred meetings in the coming season.

The Earl of Sefton signified his intention of applying for a nomination for the next Irish Cup.

The deputation consisted of Mr. Lundon, M.P. (Limerick); Mr. P. J. O'Sullivan (Limerick); Mr. J. J. Quaid, Secretary of the Irish Sub-Committee; Mr. T. A. Morris (Clonmel); Mr. Philip Brennan (Klisheelan); Mr. A. O'Shea (South Tipperary); Mr. Edmund Murphy (Clare); and Mr. D. Irwin.

The arrangements set out were subsequently what other Irish districts can a like story be told? At this moment, when our regiments are paying s heavy and daily toll to death in France, recruiting throughout Ireland is virtually dead. We have the men—tens of thousands of them—but they seem to be content to make money and play games at home. We know that we do not weary our readers by our insistence on this miserable contrast. It is a question of something more than life or worse than death for the whole Irish people.

Already Ireland is beginning to occupy a position of inglorious isolation among the members of the Empire, and, as time goes on, that isolation will become more conspicuous and more degrading. We shall

STATEMENT BY THE WAR

AIR CRAFT AT SEA.

M. Zaimis, the Greek Prime Minister, has tendered his resignation, and our Athens Correspondent, says The Times, believes that it will be accepted. Whatever may be the result, we are not disposed to consider the event as of momentous importance in itself. It seems hardly possible that any responsible Greek statesman should continue to resist the growing strength of the popular demand for a Government in agreement with the historic aspirations of the nation. The increasing activity of military operations on the Greek front makes the nomination of a strong Government, devoted alike to the King and to the Constitution, more urgent than ever. Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, at Edinburgh yearday, addressed a meeting on aircraft policy, he gathering being under the auspices of the Edinburgh Branch of the Navy League. He elerred to the destruction of the airship at Juffley, and remarked that, roughly speaking, we had had about forty Zeppelin raids on this rountry, and, taking the average as three airreft in each, which, if anything, we man the consumer and, taking the average as three airreft in each, which, if anything we much too wan estimate, something like one hundred and twenty enemy airships had been over here airreft in each, which, if anything to one hundred and twenty enemy airships had been over here airreft in each, which, if anything to one hundred and then the period of the war. This was the first much to boast about, though no one was more lelighted than he was that we should have got me. He thought we should be able to look back on a more creditable record, and he hoped hat in future the Government would so strengthen our defences that no Zeppelin raid could take place over these shores, excepting at preat peril and loss to the enemy. He complained that no sconer was the airship on the ground at Cuffley than a service which had nothing whatever to do with airship construction, but acting, no doubt, under directions of a higher power, proceeded to cut up, dissequents of the Air Service must be. He desired to see before long the whole Air Service constructions of their details. HOME DEFENCES.

Reuter's Agency has received the following from an official source:

The German Press seems now to have entered upon a policy of deliberate mendacity, as compared with formerly, when their statements occasionally contained a substratum of truth. The object is clear—First, to mislead German public opinion; and, secondly, to inflate in the purchase of contraining the Belgian National and public opinion; and, secondly, to inflate in the following five consecutive statements are desirable for consecutive statements are deliverable and the deliberate untruits:

It is declared that the British Government has introduced a compulsory system for the purchase of War Loan vouchers in industrial districts, which has been the cause of much bad blood smang the working classes.

TROOPS TAKEN FROM THE SOUTHERN AREA.

Mr. A. Beaumont, special correspondent of the Press Association and Daily Telegraph, telegraphed from Milan on Tuesday:

There seems considerable doubt concerning the strength of the Bulgarian-German army in the Dobrudja, and as for the last month I have noted reports from German, Austrian, and Jungarian sources, and also despatches received in Rome, it appears to me that the strength of the army is certainly superior to what was estimated at the beginning of the Rumanian intervention. Exaggerated enemy accounts, montioned 800,000 men, under command of Mackensen, which on the face of it was impossible. I have seen other reports mention exactly ten times less than this number—namely, 80,000 men. But this, perhaps, is below the real fact. Information just received in Rome controverts the assertion that Mackensen was leading an army of 400,000 in the Dobrudja, made by Count Reventlow so late as two weeks ago. to not hother hand, within the last six weeks rather reliable reports stated that some 50,000 degenmans were being sent down the Dunube, to which several divisions of Turks were added. But later on these Turks were removed from the Dobrudja front and sent to Galicia. The only point, therefore, whence Mackensen's army could be withdrawn was the Macedonian front, and this is confirmed by the despatches received in Rome, which suggest that a really large part of the Bulgarian and German troops in Macedonian have been transferred to the Dobrudja. This transfer began silently probably four weeks ago whilst the Bulgarian were making a demonstration in the guise of a boasted effensive. Their attacks on the Allies' right and left wings, their occupation of Greek fronts, and the general manifestations of a considerable part of their troops to another field where greater danger threatened them.

The Allied troops at Salonika are fully prepared and supplied with all the requisites for a great offensive. Their munitions are inexhaustible. The health of the troops is good, and all that seems wanted is the SOUTHERN AREA.

Munster Fusiliers are one of the great regiments of the war, and it is the second time that they have been marked out for special mention in the brief daily communiques telegraphed by Sir Douglas Haig. Indeed, they have been mentioned by name a score of times and more. The regiment is the one in which Lord Roberts was born, for his father, Sir Abraham, commanded one of the battalions. Both battalions are of Indian origin, and at Delbi the nickname. was born, for his father, Sir Abraham, com manded one of the battalions. Both battalion are of Indian origin, and at Delhi the nicknam of "The Dirty Shirts" was earned, owing to the men fighting in their shirt sleeves. Lore Roberts saw the 2nd Battalion at Farnborough before the war, and the King made an inspection and saw also the veterans of the regiment. Shortly afterwards the Royal Munster Pusiliers left Aldershot for France. It was part of a fine brigade, having in it besides the Irish battalion the 1st Collstream Guards, 1st Scots Guards, and 1st Black Watch. The battalions of the New Army have worthing followed in the footsteps of the magnificent regular battalions of the New Army have worthing followed in the footsteps of the magnificent regular battalions of the old Army. It is worthy of note that at one time in the West the battalion suffered so heavily that the command developed on a Captain (Brevet Major). Seven officers were killed and four wounded in one attack, and Sir Douglas Haig named them for gallantry in an order of the First Army Corps. Lieutenant-General Sir Herbert Miles, Governor of Gibraltar, has been Colonel of the Munsters in the West of the Munsters in the Major of the Munsters in the Major. NO HOPE OF CONQUEST. Writing from the Headquarters of the British Army in France, Mr. W. Beach Thomas, the correspondent of the Daily Mail, says-Ir general it is, I think, beyond question that the rank and file of the German Army has come to regard the war as henceforth a war of self-defence—a grin-and-bear-it war. The hope of conquest, a pan-German dominance, faded quite away during July. The German soldier believes that our present offensive is over, and he is proud that he has not retired further. We have broken his conquering ambitions. We have still to break his negative confidence in holding firm. Well, a negative creed has never yet proved a trusty prop in war. general it is, I think, beyond question that the

MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S VISIT GREEK CRISIS. TO VERDUN.

PARIS, TUESDAY.

PARIS, TUESDAY.

The Figaro, speaking of Mr. Lloyd George's visit to Verdun, and of his speech at the banquet given there in his honour, says:—Such words not only stir the heart, they carry our thoughts to the vast problem of international relations after the war, and to the new aspects of that problem. The peoples which took part in the huge crusade of 1914 will not forget for many generations that they were companions in-arms, and that together they saved civilisation and liberty. In this way a sort of higher confederation will be formed against Germany, and in memory of her crimes—a confederation which it will be a mission of the clitc of each country to preserve.

IRON AND STEEL WORKERS.

Mr. John Hodge, M.P., addressed, at Llandudno yesterday, a general conference of the Associated iron and steel workers of Great Britain, which had assembled to consider and decide upon a scheme for the federation of the several unions of iron and steel workers, including the British Steel Smelters' Association, of which Mr. Hodge is General Secretary, Mr. Hodge said if they had anything to be thankful to the Kaiser for it was that he had brought them as workers more closely together. If the nation could sink great differences for the national good, surely the little animosities and jealousies between unions of metal workers ought to be a thing of the past. There lead been financial difficulties in the vay of amalgamation, but money was a small thing compared with being able to speak with one voice.

At an ast coast port yesterday Jens S. Thomsen, master of the Danish steamer Bertha, was fined £75 for breach of the lighting regulations. It is alleged that on a recent air raid night flashes were seen coming from the defendants vessel, which was anehored in a river. The defence was that the skipper was below, and that the flashes were caused by the fireman opening the furnace door in the course of the direction.

WAR NOTICES AND APPEALS.

THE ROYAL DUBLIN FUSILIERS.

An Urgent Appeal.
TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.
Sin,—As will be noted from R.Q.M.S. O'Conneletter in your issue of to-day, the Committee lo ing after the men at the front and prisoners of the Royal Dublin Fasiliers has striven with ing after the men at the front and priseners of war of the Royal Dublis Pradilers has striven with unceasing care to keep the men of the regiment serving at the front supplied with the various extrast which tend so greatly to mittake the extreme hardship they are to be a supplied with the various extrast which tend so greatly to mittake the extreme hardship they are to be a supplied with tobacco the regiment on active service supplied with tobacco cugarettes, matches, candles, etc., sent at regular intervals. Unfortunately, if the financial survoit we received continues to be so very inadequate as it has recontly become, this supply of comioris can no longer be sent out at regular intervals. One reason for this falling off in support is, undoubtedly, because as many subscripers have lately sent incontributions to supply the committee of the regiment who are prisoners of war, and undoubtedly the prisoners are in a most desperate condition, and should be our first care. But surely the men who are risking their lives for us and covering the old regiment with such glory by their heroic deeds must also be assured that their valour is not unappreciated by those they are fathing for?

May I, therefore, ask those of the community who can do so to send us something to help us to continue the work we have been doine? It is very much against my inclination to have to ask for this modular difference with the freesawly increased work they have to do.—Yours, etc.,

Sexux Jervanes, Clerk-in-Charge.

When the war broke out Lieutenant Bible, who is eighteen years of age, was a student at Trinity College, Dublin. He received a commission in the Regular Army through the Inns of Court Officers' Training Corps, and has been at the front for over four months. PRESENTATION TO MR. LEWIS

A pleasing function took place at the Jammet Restaurant yesterday afterroon, when the Committee of the O.T.C. Commemoration Fund made a presentation of a silver cup to Mr. L. H. S. Beatty, their Hon. Secretary and Hon. Treasurer. The cup is a replica of the one recently presented to the Provost of Trinity College. Sir Maurice Dockrell, D.L., at the conclusion of luncheon, said that it was entirely owing to the splendid organising powers and energy of Mr. Beatty that the movement to place on record the part the O.T.C. of Trinity College had played in the recent trouble had been such a success, and he was glad to be in a position to show Mr. Beatty by the presentation that the Committee appreciated the work which he had done. Mr. Beatty replied in suitable terms.

Among the members of the Committee present were:—Messrs. W. L. Burke, E. Tenison Collins, Henry Dudgeon, and Frederick J. Thompson. The guests included:—Major Tate, Commandant O.T.C.; Masjor Harris, Lieutenant Cecil Robinson, O.T.C.; Messrs. John Mooney, D.L., C.V.O.; John Healy, Henry Macran, F.T.C.D.; Henry M. LOOK AT THIS PART OF THE BAG

See the name

when you go into a shop and ask for 'the best' flour.

It is the original 'best flour' that Ireland's housewives have been buying for close on twenty years.

It is easy enough to imitate the original 'Spillers' Purity' Bag, but nobody can put Spillers' quality of flour into it but ourselves! Remember this and look for the name-

You can get it in the original cotton bags, branded 'Spillers,' packed in various sizes from half-a-stone to 16 stones, at any grocer's or flour dealer's.
